DESIGN & ENGINEERING

Riva have been building the Mediterranean's most recognisable boats for generations, and the 52 Rivale is the modern one that still looks like the old ones: a long silver hull, an open cockpit laid in teak, and almost nothing on deck to interrupt the line.

Twin MAN V8-900s give her thirty-seven knots flat out and a relaxed thirty-four cruising, so the far side of the Balearics becomes a decision made over breakfast rather than a plan made the week before. She is offered as a share, not as a whole boat: take the weeks that suit your summer and leave the rest of the year, and the running of her, to someone else.

PREMIUM EQUIPMENT

OWNERSHIP

Twelve of the fifty-two annual weeks, held through an established owners syndicate. There is room to talk about how those weeks fall, and about how many.

PROPULSION

Twin MAN V8-900 petrol V8s. Thirty-seven knots maximum, thirty-four cruising.

NAVIGATION

Böning digital systems monitoring across the console with Raymarine plotter, autopilot and instruments.

ACCOMMODATION

Three cabins and two heads for six guests. Air conditioning throughout, Kohler 13 kW generator for nights at anchor.

EXTERIOR

Teak to cockpit, side decks and bathing platform. Cockpit wet bar with grill. Williams Turbojet tender on the platform, bought new in 2019.
